*“What I got out of Skype a Scientist?
The opportunity to contribute to the next generation of scientists.”*

Who inspired you?

E-meet a (Biomedical) Scientist

Connect with budding high school science students through a 15–30-minute video call to stimulate the next generation with your love of Biomedicine.

SBS Marketing will ‘matchmake’ staff with participating high schools, introduce and provide briefing notes to SBS staff.

Sessions will be during National Science Week:

Monday 17–Friday 21 August 2020.

Why join in?

- Share your work to inspire the next generation of scientists
- Quickly and easily increase your community engagement, which can be beneficial for noting on grant applications
- It’s easy – simply send your name, choose a day and be connected!

Interested?

Email biomedsci-events@unimelb.edu.au with ‘E-meet a Biomedical Scientist’ in the subject line to be matched up with a school.
