On the eve of IWD 2019 hear from our panel of female leaders in biomedicine

Learn from their journey, advice and lessons

Advancement of women in medical research remains a challenge. But opportunities to explore the complexities of human health, continue research momentum and access funding are reaching new frontiers for women in science.

Want to know how?

The School of Biomedical Sciences has assembled a panel of highly accomplished and diverse female leaders who will:

- Share their journey in biomedicine,
- Provide advice to younger generations interested in professional healthcare and
- Discuss the lessons that have enabled them to be successful.

Hear from – and meet – these inspirational women in biomedicine:

Professor Fabienne Mackay, host

Head of School of Biomedical Sciences, Faculty of Medicine, Dentistry and Health Sciences, University of Melbourne

Associate Professor Megan Munsie, moderator

Deputy Director of Centre for Stem Cell Systems, School of Biomedical Sciences, University of Melbourne

Dr Andrea Douglas

Senior Vice President, Organisation Transformation and External Affairs, CSL Limited and Director of AusBiotech, BioCurate and Baker Heart and Diabetes

Professor Kathryn North AC

Director of the Murdoch Children's Research Institute and the David Danks Professor of Child Health Research, University of Melbourne

Laureate Professor Ingrid Scheffer AO

Paediatric neurologist and Professor at the University of Melbourne, Austin Health and The Royal Children's Hospital

Professor Kanta Subbarao
